

Cassandra Blankenship

August 16, 1970 - January 4, 2018

Cassandra Haught Blankenship, 47, of Catlettsburg, Ky., died Jan. 4, 2018, at home, where she was under hospice care for cancer.

She grew up at Lake Chaweva west of Charleston and graduated from St. Albans High School. She attended Ashland Community College.

Surviving are her husband, Woodrow; son, Jonathan; brothers, Joel and Jake Haught, both of Lake Chaweva, and Jeb Haught of San Diego, Calif.; biological mother, Ruth Ann Sloan of Florida; adoptive father, Gazette-Mail Editor Emeritus James. A. Haught. She was preceded in death by her adoptive mother, Nancy Haught of Lake Chaweva.

Her body has been cremated by Tri-State Cremation Society, which presents her obituary on its website and records comments by friends. The family will hold a private ceremony to sprinkle her ashes in hills at Lake Chaweva.

Tribute Wall

GM

“ What a heartbreaking shock to find the news of Cass's death today while looking for news about another tragic event at Lake Chawevea !!! Our two families kids lived their entire growing up years playing together on the Lake...Our daughter Kristi and Cass were constantly together in our home or the Haught house. I just sent word to Kristi in Alexandria Va and I know she will also be deeply saddened. Don't know how we missed the news in January and regret it is only now we are sending our love, prayers, and sympathy. to all the family. Our hearts are grieved and we are dwelling on fond memories,
Glenn and Fleta Mathews
Kristi Mathews Grine
Keta Joy Mathews Johnson

---

Glenn Mathews - April 05, 2018 at 08:03 PM

EI

“ I will miss you so much.. I am in shock! I love you dearly!!

---

Elizabeth inherst - January 09, 2018 at 10:07 AM